THE "STANDARD" ON THE SUSPEN-SION OF SIR J. P. HENNESSY.

The Standard has the following article in its issue of the 29th December:-The suspension of Sir John Pope Hennessy is an event sensational enough to be an appropriate climax to the troubled episodes of his Colonial career. There have been instances in plenty of the recall or the super-session, with due formalities of a Governor whose conduct failed to approve itself to his superiors at of local inquiry is fortunately an exceedingly rare, if not an absolutely, unprecedented, event in the annals of Colonial administration. We do not say that Sir Heronles Robinson was not justified in applying a stringent remedy to a state of affairs which, according to the information available, was too critical to admit of the ordinary processes of cure. Probably the step he has taken was contemplated in the instructions he received for his guidance in the discharge of his delicate mission. Sir John Pope Hennessy has yet to be heard in his own defence, and it would be unfair to conclude that he has no sufficient answer to his accusers. His warmest admirers, however, will admit that if he has been animated in his successive posts by the best o motives, he has been curiously infelicitous in his choice of means. In a Colonial Governor presistent misfortune amounts to as grave a disqualifloation as proved incapacity, and it will not be denied that Sir John Pope Hennessy has been uniformly unhappy in his relations with the European dommunities over whom he has been callhe was a sincere and uncompromising friend of champion of native grievances, and he has had his reward in the praise ... though we are not disposed to allow that he has ever won the confidence—of those who are zealous for what are absurdly called the "rights of the aborigines." Whether the smallest good has ever come to his protégés from these erratic demonstrations of official sympathy is an exceedingly disputable point; but that the Governor has always left the relations between the races a good deal worse than he found them is undeniable. There have been many other administrators, just as philanthropic and just as sentimental, who have contrived to benefit the native element without inflaming the passions and earning the resentment of the Europeans. They have sometimes tions on the employment of labour, or to shack the tendency of the whites to domineer. To Sir John Pope Hennessy has been reserved the rare distinction of kindling fends wherever he went. His motives may have been excellent; but if he felt it his duty to do what was disagreeable, he

But the squabbles, and worse than squabbles, in which he involved himself at the West Indies and at Hongkong are so fresh in everyone's recollection as to obscure what is better and worthier in his career. The fault, it must be The Times, in its issue this morning, states frankly admitted, was not wholly his. His temperament was well known, and the Colonial Office must have been aware that, as regards Hongkong, he was the very worst possible man that could be chosen for the place. But in matters of patronage the Colonial Office often acts in a very blind fashion. There are a cortain number of posts and a certain number of people with claims; if an official fails in one Sir William White dined with the Sultan colony, the tradition is that he must be trans-Hennessy there was one place for which he was even less suited than Hongkong. On the other hand, our Empire, scattered as it is, has this advantage—that we hold a succession of defensible points, where our ships can find ports in which to coal, to refit, to repair, whence the great lines of commercial communication can be patrolled or guarded, and where a base of operations against an enemy can be secured. Further, the defence of these positions means not only all these advantages to us, but the loss of them to our foes; and therefore these stations are in one sense almost as necessary as position has hitherto relieved us from the burden of maintaining armies on an European scale; but our Continental neighbours are no longer content with a military predominance on land; The maritime rivalry of France is, to say the and serviceable vessel. least, very serious; and while we grudge a few hundred thousand pounds for the defence of our coaling stations, France has commenced an estimated expenditure of £3,000,000 on one alone of her foreign outposts. I need not, however, enlarge on this, for I do not believe that there is any competent judge who will dispute my

Progress, therefore, has been made at these and some other places, though mostly at the expense of the local communities; but with strange prograstination the effective defence of the Cane, by far our most important station, has been left neglected, and even its details are as yet undecided. As far as I can understand the case, the Cape Government bave some just On SHANGHAL. cause of complaint for the manner in which their overtures have been met, for while unable, like their richer fellow-subjects in Australia, to undertake the entire defence of their principal port, they have, though mainly Dutch in their extraction, shown no unwillingness to bear a reasonable share in the work. Be this, however, as it may, the Cape, is the great halfway house between England and the East, and as an alternative to the Suez route is, perhaps, even of more importance to us than all the other stations China Traders' Insurance Company's Shareswhich we own. So important did the Commission consider it that they postponed all other North China Insurance-Tls. 285 per share. considerations to report upon it at once, and to Yangtese Insurance Association-Tls. 114 per urge on the Government immediate action. That recommendation was made in September, Chinese Insurance Company, Limited-$180 per 1881, and we are now in January, 1887. Something, indeed, has been done, but, unless supple. On Tai Insurance Company, Limited-Tls. 148 mented by something else, that "something," in a military sense, is worth nothing. Capetown is like a house with two doors, and it is useless to close one if the other is left upon to an enemy. Simon's Bay, on the west of the peninsula, is the one; Table Bay, that magnificent spot so fami- China Fire Insurance Company's Shares-$89 liar to many Eastern-bound travellers, is the other. Simon's Bay, which is used by the Admiral as a convenient anchorage, is now, fairly defended at Imperial cost for purely Imperial purposes; but Table Bay and Capotown are without a vestige of protection. On the shores of that bay colonial and commercial enterprise have been busy. Large floating basins and jetties, a fine breakwater, a graving dook, workrepairing, have sprung into existence—an inof the future. Yet this great creation, a source resources in time of war, lies during some temsingle cruiser.

I have spoken only of the Cape, and I have singled it out as an illustration, though the most important one, of the whole question; but when I state that a period of about two years is required from the ordering of a gun of the new type to its delivery abroad, and when I add that -so far as I know—nothing has yet been decided as to the apportionment of the cost of the Capstown armament or of the works which must be Panjom and Sunghie Dus Samantan Mining constructed to hold that armament, I think you will agree with me that not another day of delay should be added to the long term of fruitless panic of Russian hostilities, a few earthworks were hastily constructed at the Cape, and some guns were despatched. But the hot fit passed, the cold succeeded; the temporary defences have become useless in the altered conditions of modern gunnery, and only exist as a monument of Imperial inefficiency and waste. I will not here inquire into the causes of this delay; whether the excessive pressure of business on a Minister, or the conflict of departments, or the natural desire of the Tressury to measure public requirements by the sole measure | Chinese Imperial Loan of 1884 B-6 per cent. of arithmetic, or the tendency to subordinate distant objects, however important, to near objects, however small, or the almost hopeless difficulty under our Parliamentary system of providing the necessary means if they are borne on the annual estimates, I will not here argue. One thing only is clear, that decision and action

> NEW COMBINED CRUISER AN TELEGRAPH CABLE STEAMER FOR CHINA.

This exceptional vessel, reference to which we made in our last issue, (says the London and China Express of the 7th January), now being built by Messrs. William Doxford and Sons, of Sunderland, for the China Telegraph service, is B departure which we gladly welcome, and is one which no doubt will be greatly adopted in future, as there are great advantages in having merchant vessels suitably constructed to serve as armed oruisers in case of need. This vessel is 220ft. has the whole of her shell-plating of three-quarter inch steel, which is thoroughly backed up all an exceptionally strong vessel. She is fitted 13 knots per hour. The cable is carried in muda, and I confine myself to the coaling three tanks, two being forward and one aft.

These tanks are built in the usual way (of iron) and carried on specially constructed floor plates, and the deck over thom is strengthened by forethem for steering. The cable guar is of a most complete character.

necessity-I shall not go too far if I say vital ed watertight ports; and on the upper deck factor in the arithmetic of naval war. Without fore-and-aft for use as chasers, and for their design, with the cable lifters widely spaced, so that the gun stands between them and can be worked without in any way interfering with the working of the vessel. Aft the usual steering gear is displaced by a powerful hand gear on the wheel and pinion principle, placed forward of the gun, and clear of it, and connected to a special tiller by leads and chains. A special clutch arrangement is fitted to the tiller to facilitate change from hand to steam steering, which can be done in a second or two. The after gun has then the whole of the after deck clear for working, and has an all round fire up to 68 degrees before the beam. These guns are carried on cylinders ships and grows, for without them ships and offt. in diameter, built of steelin the 'tween decks, guns may easily be rendered useless. Our insular in a similar manner to that adopted by the English Government in their fast-armed cruisers. The vessel is being rigged as a fore-and-aft schooner, and is having the most recent improvements titted, and will no doubt be a most useful

. FOST-OFFICE NOTICES.

When Correspondence has been mis-sent or delayed (both of which are liable to happen and occasionally) all that the addressee need do is to note on the cover, Sent to ____, or Received at 7 p.m., or as the case may be, and forward it, without any other writing whatever, to the Postmaster-General. This whould be acted on the first time owner of complaint occurs; it is a mistake to let such matters pass for fear of giving trouble, a course which generally gives more trouble in the and.
